ALWAYS YOUTHFUL.

He looks like a boy for work.

And whenever the task might be done he was the first to go.

And he can laugh, too, till his eyes run over with merriment.

And sing full many an old-time song in spirit of merriment.

"Good morning, friends!" he would exclaim;

"Time for a half hour's rest."

And when John took out his lunch and ate it with a relish,

"A harder task, it is," he said,

"Than following up these streets,

Or mending shoes, for, for me not my every day's work."

"I tell you why I feel so young,"

"I tell you, friends, I can't tell."

But think it is my good wife's fault

Who's kept me up so well;

For when such as she are scarce

In this poor vale of tears;

She's given me love and hope and strength

For more than forty years.

"And then my boys have all died,

And that thing which is old man's blood,

And helps him on and on.

My girls have never come a pang,

Or raised a cry of sorrow;

And when I look at that old man's blood

And half as many years.

"Why don't my good boys do my work,

And let me sit and rest?"

"Al! friends, that wouldn't do me;

I like my own way best."

They have their duty; I have mine,

And all the old appears,

I mean to make the soil, my friends,"

Said the man of seventy years.

"Now, Gerard, I shall count you!"

"My dear aunt," said Gerard, Fy, sparkling face with intense gravity,

"Do nothing of the sort. I protest against

it. You involved me to you, and you are not to be trifled with."

"I yield; for who but a madman could struggle against destiny in such a shape? But enough no further.

I consent to be ornamental to you in your baronies to accompany you to

Mrs. L'Amour smiled mischievously.

"Nellie Parker, the clergyman's daughter. Shall I introduce you to her?"

"I do not mean to," said Gerard, Fy, and he looked at her with a stern, steady gaze.

"Again I say, welcome to Maple-

ALL AROUND THE HUB.

It was by far the time the system was adopted, such an immense improvement upon all former methods of arriving at a proper decision in both criminal and civil cases, that it is no wonder it has continued to grow and prosper. But the system, as it is now, has not been in use for many years. It was not to be used in a case in which a man in a thousand would have a case in court enjoys the privilege of having it tried by a jury of his peers. We do not hesitate to state that the average jury will furnish as much, more of accuracy as any twelve men you can pick up for a great many years. It was not to be used in a case in which a man in a thousand would have a case in court enjoys the privilege of having it tried by a jury of his peers. We do not hesitate to state that the average jury will furnish as much, more of accuracy as any twelve men you can pick up for a great many years.

If one desires to see the perfect accuracy of our jury system let him attend any jury trial in court. We remember a suit brought against an insurance company in which the amount involved was a great many dollars. It was a complicated case in which some of the most far-seeing, intelligent merchants of Boston were interested, and yet upon the jury there was not a man who understood anything about insurance or could make any sense out of the testimony. The foreman of the jury was a rope maker in a small way in East Boston—a good honest fellow, who had no more idea of the words plaintiff and defendant, no more conception of the meaning of most of the law terms than he would have had if the lawyers and witnesses had talked Greek.

If it were not for the fear of liberty we should almost incline to adopting the plan of having professional juries, persons well educated, familiar with law and capable at least of understanding what was said, or of forming for themselves an opinion. In actions for damages trial by jury has become so notoriously absurd that it is surprising that either party will resort to it. A small case of $100,000 in damages is tried. One man thinks the plaintiff should have $10,000—he is very liberal with a corporation's money; another, who sees that the plaintiff has not been a great sufferer, marks the damages at $500. Thus the twelve men vary in opinion, there being no more possibility of the jury coming to an agreement, so they add up the various suits awarded, divide the total by twelve and render their verdict accordingly. And that is one feature of trial by jury.

A METROPOLITAN POLICE. The resolution adopted at the recent convention of reform clubs in England to regard to a metropolitan police, the election of a committee of twelve to petition the next Legislature for a law creating such a force, has as yet attracted little attention; but should the matter be made an issue in the fall campaign, as the advocates of it threaten to make it, some of our people may consider it contrary to the spirit of our form of government for one community to dictate to another how its municipal affairs shall be regulated.

LIVING IN QUINCY, Weymouth, Providence or Pittsfield, one may feel that it is shameful that the laws are not enforced in Boston, Lowell, Lynn or Worcester, but after all, the people of these cities are the ones to suffer.

OUR MARKETS. We observed a few days since that Fulton market in New York was to be rebuilt and we trust, for the sake of all who have to go there, thoroughly regenerated. It has always surprised us that the people of New York and Brooklyn would submit to such abominations as Fulton and Washington markets, and the dirty, disorderly provision stores. We of the hub have a right to be proud of our markets. They are clean and wholesome. There is no accumulation of garbage inside or outside, purchasers are not solicited by nor rendered deaf by men and boys, women and girls crying their wares in an unintelligible jargon as in the case in other cities. Then again how orderly everything is. Take away through Faneuil Hall market from Commercial street and you find first on either side the fish stalls, next a pin, and we find the vegetable and fruit men, the butter and cheese dealers, the salt meat, and further on the fresh meat stalls in order, and not a particle of offensive refuse to be seen anywhere. And so it is outside, both on North Market and South Market streets: though there is an immense business done on both streets every week-day we find no filth. What a contrast to the streets around the market in New York.

And what we have said of Faneuil Hall market applies to all of the markets and provision stores in our city. To the matter of cleanliness Boston has always given much attention and in that respect we are not far from the services of any metropolitan police. Some of our readers may think we tripped in speaking of Faneuil Hall market from Commercial street; but we didn't trip; though we have hundreds of times heard the long granite building between North Market and South Market streets called Quincy market, there is no such building in Boston. It was named when built, Faneuil Hall Market.

LOCAL TOPICS.

Reception of the "Governor." The arrival of the "Governor No. 1" here carried was made the occasion of a public display last Saturday afternoon, at the Landing, the members of the Steamer Company assembling at the engine house about 4 o'clock, and after resting on eight hundred feet of how they wanted the rope and took a run with the carriage, on which nine men were sitting and standing. Jim Ford then hitched his handsome pair of blacks to the "Governor," and a tour was made up Washington St. and down Front St., the carriage, with its load of how and nine men, being weighed on the route, and made to tip the scales at 4440 lbs.

The Steamer was then taken to the Broad street wharf, and being towed to the engine house, the machine would not start, water, and the crowd waiting the appearance of the steamer had abundant time for such and all to present their theories as to the difficulty. The crowd was so large that the fact that the steamer had not been fired up since the first at East Weymouth, and the packing of the piston had become dry and loose. The difficulty was remedied Monday night, and when the machine was started, it was considered advisable that the steamer should be worked occasionally to ensure its being in good condition at all times, as delay in getting to work in the event of a fire breaking out might involve serious consequences.

The "Governor" was inspected by the Board of Engineers, who were all present, and after the display had ended the company and invited guests repaired to the engine hall, where a collection was made, including Steward Smith's nice clam chowder.

The "Governor" is a very substantial four wheel carriage, built mainly of iron, with a wide seat in front and a smaller one in rear. A good likeness of "Governor" Leach, who has been long connected with the Fire Department, adorns the sides of the seat, but with little exception the ornamentation of the carriage is not very brilliant. A small, but very useful, and well damaged by the action of sea air in transporting the carriage from New York, and as this defect makes its appearance unsatisfactory to the committee, Engineer G. E. Hicknell wrote to the builder, Mr. C. R. Bradford, who replied to the effect that he did not notice any defect when it left the factory, but he was bound in honor to make it satisfactory, at whatever the cost, and if the committee would be kind enough to employ a first class painter to remedy the defect according to their order, he would then do so and deduct the cost from his bill.

Weymouth Bicycle Club. A meeting of the bicycle riders of Weymouth was held at Mr. Walter M. Dyer's, East Weymouth, last Monday evening, when a club was formed to be known as the Weymouth Bicycle Club, and the officers chosen as follows:

President—Chas. D. Canterbury. Vice President—W. L. Trot. Secretary—W. F. Field. Treasurer—Chas. D. Canterbury.

The club members met at present, and it is expected that more will join soon, as there are about 15 in town. The League (gray suit) with blue stockings, has been adopted.

The next meeting will be held on Monday evening, Aug. 1st, at the residence of Chas. Clapp, at the Landing, when proposals for membership will be received.

Unusual Weather. As a wide interest prevails among the friends of the contestants in the running match which is to take place at the Park South Weymouth the 27th of August, next, between Thomas Murphy, of Weymouth, and Edward Gifford, of Rockland, we give the articles of agreement between the parties, which are as follows:

Art. 7th.—The stakeholder shall award the money on the referee's decision.

Reception. Last Friday some sixty of the South Weymouth people made an excursion to Weymouth. The O. C. R. R. Convention very generously reduced the fare one half, and the day being one of the finest of the season, many availed themselves of this opportunity to visit the spot sacred to free people of color, and after resting on eight hundred feet of how they wanted the rope and took a run with the carriage, on which nine men were sitting and standing. A small, but very useful, and well damaged by the action of sea air in transporting the carriage from New York, and as this defect makes its appearance unsatisfactory to the committee, Engineer G. E. Hicknell wrote to the builder, Mr. C. R. Bradford, who replied to the effect that he did not notice any defect when it left the factory, but he was bound in honor to make it satisfactory, at whatever the cost, and if the committee would be kind enough to employ a first class painter to remedy the defect according to their order, he would then do so and deduct the cost from his bill.

The club members met at present, and it is expected that more will join soon, as there are about 15 in town. The League (gray suit) with blue stockings, has been adopted.

The next meeting will be held on Monday evening, Aug. 1st, at the residence of Chas. Clapp, at the Landing, when proposals for membership will be received.

Reception. Last Friday some sixty of the South Weymouth people made an excursion to Weymouth. The O. C. R. R. Convention very generously reduced the fare one half, and the day being one of the finest of the season, many availed themselves of this opportunity to visit the spot sacred to free people of color, and after resting on eight hundred feet of how they wanted the rope and took a run with the carriage, on which nine men were sitting and standing. Jim Ford then hitched his handsome pair of blacks to the "Governor," and a tour was made up Washington St. and down Front St., the carriage, with its load of how and nine men, being weighed on the route, and made to tip the scales at 4440 lbs.

The Steamer was then taken to the Broad street wharf, and being towed to the engine house, the machine would not start, water, and the crowd waiting the appearance of the steamer had abundant time for such and all to present their theories as to the difficulty. The crowd was so large that the fact that the steamer had not been fired up since the first at East Weymouth, and the packing of the piston had become dry and loose. The difficulty was remedied Monday night, and when the machine was started, it was considered advisable that the steamer should be worked occasionally to ensure its being in good condition at all times, as delay in getting to work in the event of a fire breaking out might involve serious consequences.

The "Governor" was inspected by the Board of Engineers, who were all present, and after the display had ended the company and invited guests repaired to the engine hall, where a collection was made, including Steward Smith's nice clam chowder.

The "Governor" is a very substantial four wheel carriage, built mainly of iron, with a wide seat in front and a smaller one in rear. A good likeness of "Governor" Leach, who has been long connected with the Fire Department, adorns the sides of the seat, but with little exception the ornamentation of the carriage is not very brilliant. A small, but very useful, and well damaged by the action of sea air in transporting the carriage from New York, and as this defect makes its appearance unsatisfactory to the committee, Engineer G. E. Hicknell wrote to the builder, Mr. C. R. Bradford, who replied to the effect that he did not notice any defect when it left the factory, but he was bound in honor to make it satisfactory, at whatever the cost, and if the committee would be kind enough to employ a first class painter to remedy the defect according to their order, he would then do so and deduct the cost from his bill.

Unhappy Science.

Last Friday afternoon officers Whiton, Cook, Spring, Rich, Gardner and Tower started on an excursion to pay their respects to the various dealers in the ardent. They first made their appearance on the premises of John Wall on Holart St., where an inspection resulted in their finding 108 bottles of beer and 1 gallon of rum, which they seized. Next they tramped in squads; officers Spring and Gardner first visited Mathias Greig's, finding 2 qts. whiskey, 3 galls. rum, 1 qt. brandy and 2 bottles beer. Officers Cook and Tower visited Herbert Tully's saloon, where they seized 20 galls. ale, 37 bottles beer, 1 gall. rum, 1 gall. whiskey, 1 qt. gin. While these officers were performing the task allotted them in this quarter, officers Whiton and Rich drove round by the wharves, making a call upon Bryan Ward, taking 15 galls. ale, 80 galls. rider, and one gall. rum. Monday afternoon they again donned the habiliments of war and called upon Francis O'Brien on South St. and seized 1 small barrel of ale and 1 case of beer. The parties will be called upon to step into the judicial office and make their obeisance before Judge Keith on Friday next.

In this court on Friday last, before Judge Keith, E. W. Lavette, who keeps the Wayside Cafe at Nantasket Beach, was complained of by officer John Smith for exposing intoxicating liquors for sale without requisite authority, and being adjudged guilty was fined fifty dollars and costs, from which decision he appealed and gave bonds in the sum of $400 to appear at Plymouth on the October term of the Superior Court.

About 2½ o'clock Monday morning an alarm was sounded, giving notice to the inhabitants of this staid old town that the fire brand was again doing its utmost to destroy property. This time it broke out in the barn connected with the residence of John C. Farley, at the corner of Main and High Sts., South Hingham. The fire department were soon upon the scene, but before their arrival the flames had communicated with the house, and the sparks lighting upon the roof of the house of Walter John Deen ignited, but were extinguished after a slight scorching. The barn was entirely consumed, together with ten tons of hay and some farming utensils, but the horses were got out. The house was considerably damaged, the loss being about $200. Insured by the Hingham Mutual Office. A local fireman was the cause without doubt.

Housewife, etc. Within the last ten days we have had a long chapter of accidents to Hingham people while riding. The first one we have to record, however, was to some people from Weymouth, who came to last Sunday evening, where some one did not learn, who drove against a post on Fort Hill St., near the West Hingham station, the result of which was a badly broken carriage.

Last week Wednesday evening a gentleman and his wife who reside in Hingham were run away with on the road in Quincy near the Atlantic station. Their horse became frightened by the approach of two trains in opposite directions as they were on the bridge over the track, and ran, striking a light express wagon containing a gentleman who resides in Roxbury, but who is passing the summer at Quincy. The high fore wheel of the Hingham team was entirely demolished by the collision and the lady was thrown violently to the ground, escaping, however, with some sprains and bruises. It was a wonder she was not killed or very seriously injured. Her husband was not hurt at all, but the Roxbury gentleman was thrown out of his wagon, his face was severely bruised and he was badly shaken up. Those who run against his wagon kindly sent for a doctor to attend him, and having been conveyed to Quincy, returned to Hingham in the last train.

On Saturday Dr. J. H. Robbins, while riding at Nantasket, was run into by some careless person and his carriage was considerably the worse for the collision.

Sunday evening a man in the employ of David Cushing 2d, was driving up the Old Colony House hill, when his horse was run into by the shaft of a vehicle coming in the opposite direction. The shaft entered the chest of Mr. Cushing's horse—a handsome and valuable animal. Its driver endeavored to get it home, but it fell dead near Mr. Cushing's house on North St. We have not been able to ascertain who is blamed for the collision.

Last week Thursday evening a horse owned by James F. Clement started from in front of the store of John D. Gates, dashed across Thaxter's bridge, and brought up against a tree in front of the residence of Charles A. Southworth, on South St. The wagon was decidedly upset and the horse, which was driven by Chas. Johnson—a colored man—broke a bone in its shoulder. We are told, however, that the injury will not necessitate the killing of the animal. It became frightened by seeing a bicyclist.

On Saturday evening as Daniel Bassett was riding on South St., near Hersey St., his horse was frightened by the noise of the engine of the train due at quarter past six. It dashed against the fence in front of the house of Mrs. Elijah Lincoln, breaking the fence, but doing no further injury. Mr. Bassett was fortunate to get off with so little damage.

The same evening about an hour later, as Mr. Joshua Salisbury was riding with Fred Reed from East Weymouth, the horse was frightened by the noise of an approaching train, and turning suddenly upset the buggy, throwing both gentlemen out, and then attempted to jump over the fence in front of O. H. P. Stoddard's house on Fort Hill St., very near where the first accident we have recorded occurred. Mr. Salisbury was considerably bruised and it was thought at first one of his arms was broken. He was conveyed to his home and attended by Dr. Fay, who pronounced his limbs all whole, but he received a terrible jolt to his whole system.

While Dr. Robbins of the Centre, was driving on the road, near the Pavilion, Nantasket Beach, last Friday, he was run into by the driver of the Fairy Queen, cramping one of his wheels, besides doing other damage to the buggy. As the road is very wide at this point there is plenty of room to turn out for a passing team.

In conclusion we will say that while we have never known so many riding accidents in the same space of time, it is very remarkable that so little injury was done to persons in either case.

SOITUATE.

The Fair which is to be given at the Town Hall, at the Centre, by the G. W. Perry Post, G. A. R., will be opened on Tuesday evening, August 10th, with an address by Gov. Long, of Hingham, and the North Scituate Brass Band will furnish music for the occasion.

Smart. Hon. Samuel A. Turner, formerly a Custom House Officer of this port, and who is 82 years old, walked from his daughter's residence to the harbor last week, a distance of three miles. Pretty good for an old gentleman.

Medical. The Plymouth Medical Association met at the South Shore House last week, and held a very interesting meeting. Interesting papers were read upon the following subjects, by the following physicians: "Septicemia," Dr. Huger, of Marshfield; "Diphtheria," Dr. Hastings, of South Abington; "Secondary Hemorrhage," Dr. Vinall, of Scituate; after which they partook of a first-class dinner given up in an artistic manner by the proprietor of the house, Mr. J. T. Clements.

Verdict. The following parties registered at the South Shore House last week: J. Richardson, Hingham; Dr. B. F. Hastings, A. A. McKee, South Abington; Dr. N. P. Brownell, South Scituate; M. E. Whitney, Rockland; J. E. Joslyn, C. P. Hildreth, Joseph Jenkins, H. T. Winslow, West Hanson.

Rev. Canon G. K. Knowles, of the Chicago Episcopal Cathedral, paid a visit to the Hon. George Lunt of this village.

The Egypt station has been toned up with a fresh coat of paint.

Concert. The vocal and instrumental concert which was given at Union Hall, last Friday evening, was very thickly attended. Mr. Bernard Cohen, an aged gentleman in his seventy-fifth year, sang several pieces in his usual style, among which were "The Second of Hunker Hill," "Old Tomatoes," "The Ivy Green," and other selections. Prof. John Hill played several violin solos, among which were "Home, Sweet Home," with variations, "Organ Imitations," with variations, "Organ Imitations," with variations, "Organ Imitations," with variations.

During the severe storm on Thursday afternoon of last week, the lightning struck a vine in a cherry tree near the residence of Peleg Hyland, damaging it considerably.

Suspensions. It is well known that there has been considerable excitement in this vicinity of late caused by the numerous attempts at larceny and no due to the perpetrators. On Wednesday as two boys were strolling through the woods they discovered three strange and suspicious looking men. Feeling that all was not right they immediately notified their father of the discovery who in turn informed officer Scott. In company with officer Young, he visited the place, and tent and occupants being mysteriously disappeared. This causes suspicion very naturally to turn toward these strangers as perpetrators of these outrageous proceedings.

Beach thrives. Mr. D. T. Ide, photographer, of Pawtucket, R. I., was at the beach last week taking several views along the shore, among which are the Centennial House, private residences, etc., etc.

A yacht party from Beverly Farms came into this port last week.

Mr. Geo. C. Lee has been fitting up his saloon in a neat and tasty manner, and he is now having a pretty fair trade.

The ice cream saloon of Watson & Co., is now known as the "Mint Down by the Sea." They intend to put up soon a neat and tasty sign bearing the name of the saloon.

The Centennial and the Mitchell Houses are being well patronized. The next two months will be the best months for receiving hosts of guests, as many of those who work in shop and factory will then take their vacation.

NANTASKET.

The following were the arrivals last week at the hotels on the beach: Atlantic House—Stephen Ellis, Miss Hatfield Ellis, Braintree. Straits Paul House—B. C. Bradford, J. E. Torrey, N. M. Varney, H. H. Hallet and wife, H. P. Turner, Mr. and Mrs. J. Crowell, Samuel V. Thompson, W. G. Marland, Wm. R. Washburn, Rockland; Alonzo Cleverly, A. B. Sweet, W. L. Deal, No. Weymouth.

A rowing club has been formed at Lake Nantasket, to be known as the Believers. The following names are the members: Capt. Fred McEwell; No. 2, Sprague (Gardner); Straker, Chas. A. Linsay; Crossman, H. G. Alen.

The children's party at the Atlantic House will be held sometime this week. Messrs. Thomas & Wilber, of Rockton, are talking of having a twenty-five-cent store at Nantasket Beach.

Eclipse. An interesting day was spent at the Centre House July 14, by the first Universalist Teacher's Association in which they not only enjoyed their annual day of pleasure and recreation, but celebrated the birthday of their host with whom they had met annually nearly all the time for twenty-five years. The dining hall was beautifully decorated on the occasion. Wm. Marble, a member of the Association, kindly furnishing the decorations. After dinner Mr. Marble made a few remarks pertinent to the occasion and offered the following resolutions, which were copied and presented to Mr. Loring:

Resolved, That we congratulate him on his near approach to three-score years and ten; that we rejoice that an able and useful life has thus lengthened out; that we pray for his continued usefulness in the future; that we shall often meet under this hospitable roof, and that Loring and Sprague shall for years to come continue to dispense their well known hospitality to their numerous patrons.

The season. At the beach is not yet as good as expected at the commencement of the season. The cause for this is undoubtedly the cool weather which has thus far generally prevailed, but the week just has caused a large increase in the number of visitors, the railroad proving a great attraction to many and is well patronized. A large number seem to centre at Hotel Nantasket where many other houses are well patronized, especially the Atlantic, Rockland, Sea Foam, Penobscot.

Went into operation this week upon the Nantasket Beach Railroad, called to connect with all trains on the South Shore branch of the Old Colony Railroad. Access is thus given from either end of the road to all parts of the beach. It is expected that this will call a large travel by rail to the beach, and report has it that excursions are soon to be announced all along the Old Colony Railroad, the truth of which we have not been able to ascertain.

Upset. On Sunday, the 17th inst., a squall came up and a party in attempting to land near the Maverick House had their boat upset and the party were precipitated into the water. They were found to hail from North Abington. The proprietor kindly allowed them today to proceed on their way homeward.

Arrested. Officer M. M. Miller discovered "the afternoon not long since a man with a roll of blankets under his arm stepping on board the boat. Thinking things looked suspicious he accosted the man, who accounted for himself by saying that two ladies requested him to take the bundle on board for them, but an investigation failed to discover anything of the kind and officer Miller placed him under arrest, and afterwards found that the blankets were the property of Mr. O'Connor of the Vine Cafe. He was compelled to pay his respects to Judge Keith, who dealt out justice in no measured terms.

ROLL.

The first German was given at the Oregon House, Hull, last Wednesday evening.

The body of an unknown man was found in the water at Hull pier. He is supposed to be a Scotchman and a type founder.

Gen. S. C. Lawrence, who is stopping at the Penobscot Hotel, Hull, will go yachting to the Isles of Shoals after the first of August.

Four large silver cups, three with the handles knocked off, belonging to the Methodist Society of this village, have lately been found in possession of one of the old families. They were part of an old communion set, the other pieces of which had long disappeared. They bear respectively the following inscriptions: "The gift of Thomas Colyer, to the Church of God, 1720." "The gift of Matthew Loring to ye Church in Hull 1721." "This belongs to the Church of Christ in Hull 1824." The cups are to be repaired and again put into possession of the Society.

The Nantasket Beach Railroad Company have built a number of well-fitted landing rafts for the accommodation of yachts at this point. Hitherto yachtsmen have not had landing privileges here, and the new regulations, together with the musical and other attractions offered at Hotel Penobscot, have attracted an immense fleet of all kinds of crafts, that thickly line the shore for miles.

COHASSET.

Thunder Storm.

The severe storm of hail, rain, thunder and lightning on Thursday week, did considerable damage in this village. The lightning struck the brass ball on top of the mast of a yacht owned by Dr. John Bryant, passing down the bay through the bottom of the boat into the water. While Mr. Charles Bourne, of the firm of Bourne & Nickerson, butchers, was standing behind his cart at one of his customer's houses, cutting a piece of meat, the same flash struck one of the hind wheels, knocking all the spokes out of the wheel and prostrating Mr. B. to the ground, also maiming the wagon, ending the horse to start off with the forward wheels. We also learn that Mrs. Edward Tilden received a severe shock to her system, and at last account was unable to tell anything about it. Several other persons in the neighborhood were more or less affected by the electric fluid.

Mr. C. H. Allen has commenced to make improvements on his building, which he has leased.

Mr. D. Renshaw has received a patent for utilizing exhaust steam.

BEECHWOOD.

Mr. Daniel Arnold of this village, while at work in the shoe factory of M. C. Dizer & Co., at East Weymouth, last week cutting a piece of board, the knife slipped, cutting a vein in his left leg. Dr. Fay was called and attended to the injured man, after which he was taken to his home and has been ever since under the care of Dr. Pratt, of Cohasset, and is doing as well as can be expected.

An attempt was made by some party or parties to enter the residence of Mr. A. B. Litchfield, last Friday evening, but were frightened away by the dogs of Mr. Hosen U. Woods.
